Gujarat:

Some control over the management and maintenance of records created by private bodies in the State will be exercised. In view of the greater responsibilities and additional financial commitments, the State Government does not consider it feasible at present to enact a law in question. The State Government is of the opinion that a uniform law in this respect embodying the general principles enacted by the Government of India will be more effective than separate laws enacted by different State Governments.

Haryana: The resolution is under consideration of the Government.

Sikkim: As the State Archives has recently been set up and is being organized, the resolution is still under consideration of the Government.

Assam: This question may conveniently be taken up after setting up of the State Archives.

Resolution XI: Resolved that all State Governments should evolve as early as possible a well articulated retirement policy for their records and prepare retention schedules for records at all levels in line with the rules of the Central Government.

Kerala: Evolving a well articulated retirement policy of records and preparation of retention schedules for records in line with the rules of the Central Government will be included in the "Archives Manual", compilation of which has been undertaken by this Department.

Sikkim: As the State Archives has been recently set up and is being organized, the resolution is still under Government's consideration.

Jammu & Kashmir: The State Government has been approached in this behalf.

West Bengal: The matter is under consideration of the Government and the decision will be communicated in due course.

Assam: The question is being examined though there are certain rules in this regard for this Record Office.

Punjab: The State Government has already constituted a working group of officers for this purpose. A report thereof is still awaited.

Resolution XII: The Commission notes with regret that, in spite of its earlier recommendations, vide Resolution No.IV of its 31st session held in 1955 and Resolution 3(A) of the 36th session held in 1961, the Government / for the manufacture of the Standard quality Paper recommended by the Indian Standards Institution in consultation with the National Archives of India, with the result that the Union and State Governments, as well as others, were obliged to use low quality paper for their permanent records. The Commission, therefore, strongly recommends that urgent measures be adopted either for manufacturing this paper in India, or for importing it from abroad, as in the long run the use of quality paper for permanent records would not only prove more economical, but is absolutely essential, keeping in view the importance of these records for the future generations.

National Archives of India: M/s Dallarpur Paper Industries who had previously tendered a sample of bond paper for permanent records, have finally succeeded
